Who is there among our readers who can give us a list of names of people who have friends in Oxford County but who live elsewhere? Any who can furnish us with one or more such names will confer a lasting favor upon us.

It goes without saying that you are interested to help us make The Oxford County Citizen the best weekly paper in Maine. Here is definite opportunity. Send us the names and addresses of five or more people who have gone out from Oxford County or who have friends here. DO IT TODAY.

J. W. Cummings of Albany made the NEWS office a pleasant call last Saturday and assured us that he sincerely hoped that our forth coming paper would be a success and that if we made good he should be among our regular readers. Such assurances have been numerous and we in turn assure our friends that we will have a strong interest in our effort to make good.

We are not going to send sample copies of our new paper (see page 4) broadcast but are offering it 15 weeks for 10 cents in order to give every person in the County an opportunity to find out at practically no expense what the paper is to be. Haven't your friends who would be interested to see Oxford County's best paper? If so send us their names and ten cents today and we will send them the paper from May 7th to Aug. 1st.

The Bethel News, in saying good bye to its many readers, would express its sincere thanks for the hundreds of loyal friends that have stood by it through thick and thin, who have expressed its many shortcomings and appreciated and commended whatever has been at all appreciable and commendable, and true to the spirit of sacrifice it is happy to give way to a larger and more creditable sheet, that its friends may be better served.

Rev. F. B. Schoenover returned from conference at Augusta, Monday. Mr. Schoenover will go to Oakland for the coming year and Rev. Mr. Bankhart of Conway, N. H., will come to Bethel. Rev. and Mrs. Schoenover have made a host of friends during their stay in Bethel and they will be missed not only by the church for which they have labored so faithfully, but by the entire community. Mr. Schoenover's sterling character, genial and friendly disposition, and devotion to duty have endeared him not only to his own church but to the community as a unit, while Mrs. Schoenover has likewise been a place in the hearts of all by her pleasing characteristics and her willingness to serve upon all possible occasions by her rich rare voice. All who knew them are to be extending a heartfelt God speed as they go to their new field.

The Synodists of Bethel have issued their warrant to Constable H. C. Barker, commanding him to list all unlicensed dogs. If your dog is not licensed, you had better advise him to take out a license.

By placing large orders early last fall I secured some exceptionally good values which when my present stock is exhausted can not be duplicated again this season.

Elbow sleeves will be used very extensively this summer which will create large demands for the long gloves. The past two years the demand has far exceeded the supply and the foresighted will secure their gloves early.

IN TENDER MEMORY.

Close upon the Easter gladness has fallen an almost heart breaking sense of grief and loss. Not alone upon the sorrowing home to our midst, but upon all who have rejoiced in the radiant presence which for years has seemed to us like a part of the summer time blossoming and beauty.

Euphemia Dick Ingles was born in Middletown, Conn., Jan. 26th, 1873, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Ingles. On June 23, 1903 she was married to Mr. Harold Hastings of Boston, a graduate of the Wesleyan University of Middletown. On Wednesday morning, April 23, after five years of absolutely ideal wedded life, just when she had won the crown of motherhood, she passed beyond our human sight.

Possessed of a rarely attractive personality, of marked sweetness, simplicity, and strength of nature, and gifted with unusual grace and charm, she won all hearts. Whether in the home of her sunny girlhood, in this her husband's old home, or in the beautiful new home of her singularly happy wedded life, she was always the center of a devoted circle of friends, upon whom the memory of her loveliness will rest as a gracious heritage.

A most touching funeral service was held at her home in Ravin Hill on Friday afternoon, April 24 at half past four o'clock, conducted by her brother, in law the Rev. Frances W. Mason, rector of Trinity church, Watertown, N. Y., who had performed the marriage service and who, the evening before, had christened the little daughter, who will wear her mother's name.

On Saturday afternoon she was brought to her last resting place beneath the shadow of these everlasting hills. A brief but impressive service was held in the church yard, led by the Rev. Frank Mansfield. Miss Jane Gibbons sang most tenderly "Some Day Perhaps We'll Understand."

Then, clad in her bridal gown, lying in a wealth of exquisite flowers, with face to the sky and with the promise of springtime, she slept in the twilight still in God's universe, she and those she loved, and wrapped about with a largeness of love and law which we, who see only the decaying frame, the living soul, in an awe understand.

For we are so little children who see and know not the meaning of the pain and trouble that darkness suffers them to bear.

Mrs. Mary and Harriet Douglas were home from Gorham, N. H., over Sunday.

Fountain Pens Not New.
It is a popular fallacy that fountain pens are quite a modern invention. In a matter of fact an old watch movement produced in 1794 contained an illustration of a fountain pen, the appearance of which is very strikingly those sold at the present time. The construction, however, was completely different and, of course, the pen consisted of various pieces of metal, which had to be oiled and were almost useless. The pen could be

When his father would be away for half a day or so the young man would dig a trench, lay what pipe he could and cover it up again before his father got home. He continued this till he had laid the pipe from the spring to the house, had made all the attachments and had the water running into the sink, where his mother could use it at will and without effort.

THE OXFORD COUNTY CITIZEN.

It is with pleasure that we announce to the readers of the NEWS, that commencing with our next issue we are going to give them a larger and better paper.

Many who are today on our list of subscribers have been with us since the day the NEWS began its existence in June, 1895. They have seen its ups and downs, have been pleased with some issues and doubtless disappointed in many. They have also doubtless realized that Bethel is not really a newspaper town and it has been with much effort that the NEWS has been kept alive. Despite this they have seen the paper enlarged from four to eight pages and have seen a printing plant come from practically nothing to the best country plant in the State of Maine. This is no bluff. There is not a weekly paper in Maine, outside of the daily office, which has a plant that begins to compare with the NEWS plant. Though we have no heart to make concerning the NEWS yet we will say frankly that we have at least given our people a paper which compares favorably with those of other towns of this size.

In 1903, we opened an office and established the HUNFORD CITIZEN at HUNFORD FALLS. This paper filled a long felt want and came at once into popular favor with the people in that vicinity, and is today recognized as one of the loudest and most up-to-date weeklies in the State. But, though I have outlined my ambition as to a plant, I have yet come far short of satisfying my ambition as to a paper, and will not have done so until I am able to say that I am publishing a paper which will stand without a peer among the weekly papers of the State of Maine.

Neither the Bethel field nor the HUNFORD field is large enough to support such a paper as my ambition prompts me to publish and enlarge the field and scope of each. The new paper will be THE OXFORD COUNTY CITIZEN. Its scope and influence will not be limited, however, to the present NEWS field nor the present CITIZEN field; on the contrary it is my purpose, not only to put it into every nook and corner of Oxford County but to give it a reputation and prestige which shall extend beyond our county borders. The enlarged territory and purpose of the paper will afford larger opportunities for development, and no time, effort nor money will be spared to develop these opportunities. My personal and careful attention, which I have not been able to give to either paper in the past, will be given to the new paper and nothing that experience, time and money can do to make this paper a paper that all will want and will have, will be left undone.

The regular size of the paper will be twelve pages. The size will be increased, however, at such times as additional material requires, and it is my intention and purpose that those twelve pages shall contain matter of such interest and importance as to commend the paper to all who are proud to call themselves "Oxford Bears."

In the first place, we shall make it a newspaper in the broadest sense of the term. While we shall give special attention to the local happenings in the vicinity of Bethel and HUNFORD FALLS, including all of the towns which center at each of these places, we shall also have a corps of correspondents in the various towns throughout the County and will keep our readers fully in touch with Oxford County affairs from week to week.

We shall also give a portion of the paper to the general news of the day. This naturally cannot be elaborated upon as the daily papers are doing, but the important news of the day will be summarized down and the gist of it will be given, and in this department our readers may expect to find a summary, at least, of the important happenings of the week, local and general. This general news matter will be given with appropriate heads in concise, interesting and readable form and will be one of the most important features of the paper.

We cannot attempt to outline in this brief space, just what our forth coming paper is to be, as we propose to get such a variety of matter as to interest everyone. We shall, of course, conduct an Editorial Department, in which we shall endeavor to deal with questions of local and public interest, and in our humble way, hope to be able to be of some use to the community which we shall endeavor to represent. We shall have a Home Department, in which we shall publish the choicest matter in relation to home and home life, that it will be possible to obtain, and we invite the co-operation of any of our readers to this end, whether in the way of original matter or any choice matter in either prose or verse which they may desire used. Communications from people concerning any questions of interest will always be acceptable and we also invite our friends to make use of this department.

We have an excellent corps of correspondents, both on the NEWS and CITIZEN, but there are many localities throughout the County, not covered at the present time by either paper. In all such places we desire a correspondent. We, therefore, ask any who would be willing to furnish us the news from week to week from any locality not now represented, to let us hear from them.

If you read a local paper and of course you do, you doubtless want the one which will afford the best value for your money. You want the one which not only gives you the county news but the one which keeps in touch with what is going on in the world and publishes the important happenings from week to week. This we propose to do. If we make good, the paper will certainly be worthy of your support. Try us out and see if we make good.

The first issue of this paper will be on Thursday, May 7th. I desire to place that paper in the hands of one thousand people who do not at the present time have the NEWS or CITIZEN. I am confident that those who become familiar with this paper will readily become interested in it and readers of it, because I am sincere when I say that I propose to make it the best all round weekly newspaper in the State of Maine, and I know that when such a paper is published here in Oxford County, our best Oxford County friends will want to support it.

are sorry to announce to our readers that this is the last issue of the Bethel News. But we are happy to announce that in its place we are to give a far better paper and one which we are sure will please our loyal friends of whom we have many.

When you get the new paper look it over carefully and drop the Editor a line telling him what you think of his new paper and suggest how you would have him improve it.

SUGGESTION THANKFULLY RECEIVED—PLEASE PASS IT ALONG.

In our circular recently sent out, announcing our purpose to bring out The Oxford County Citizen, and making a trial offer, we did not suggest sending it to a friend, but the enthusiasm of the people from every nook and corner of Oxford County prompted that very thing. Over and over again, letters have come to us from people, whom we have never known, but who evidently have interests in Old Oxford and welcome a paper born to serve her interests. These letters contain not only the subscription of the writers, but also of one, and many times two, friends and best of all a real heartfelt "God speed for the new paper and its enthusiastic Editor." It will be these God speeds that will enable us to realize our ideal. Persistent effort coupled with heartfelt encouragement is sure to conquer. We are grateful to these numerous friends who have thought to send a trial subscription to their friends. We adopt the suggestion and pass it along to our readers.

May first will be a sad day for the liquor interests of New England, especially in Massachusetts where, six cities and twenty-six towns are lifted from the license column into the no license list. This means the closing of 2,100 licensed rum shops, or 10 per cent. of the entire number in the State. There are, however, about 20,000 left in the old Bay State, and yet some people would attempt to make the people of Maine believe that mere liquor is being sold in Maine today under the restrictions which are had here than in being sold in a state where 20,000 are selling under practically no restrictions.

PASSED AWAY.

Death of Zenas C. Estes Occurred Last Evening.

The following is taken from a Watkinson, Mass. paper. Mr. Estes was well known in Bethel where many friends will regret to learn of his death.

"Zenas C. Estes, a veteran of the Civil War, who has for several years resided in the West and provision business in this city, passed away last evening at his late home of Weston street, after a brief illness. About two weeks ago Mr. Estes was taken ill with pneumonia, and while his condition has been quite critical for a number of days, hopes for his recovery were entertained. He was widely known in this city, and a host of friends will learn with sorrow of his death.

Deceased was born in Bethel, Me., in the year 1816, and he attended the schools there. He enlisted with the 12th Maine Volunteer Militia in the Civil War. After leaving Maine he resided in Chelsea, and for over 15 years he has engaged in business here. A few years ago he was favorably considered as a member of the Board of Aldermen, there being a large number desirous of his election. He was a member of Arlington Post, G. A. R., and Chelsea Lodge of Odd Fellows. A wife, three sisters and one brother survive him.

Owing to the serious illness of Mrs. Estes, the funeral, which will be held tomorrow afternoon, will be private. Mr. Estes' place of business has been in the First building on Main street."

UNION SERVICES.

At the Congregational Church Last Sunday.

Union services were held at the Congregational church last Sunday, the occasion being the anniversary service of the Old Fellows and Rebekahs. The church was well filled and the services were very pleasing and helpful.

The services were delivered by Rev. Mr. Curtis, pastor of the Congregational church and was an exceptionally helpful and inspiring discourse such as would quicken and prompt to action the best within any and all who were permitted to hear it.

Special music by the choir assisted by W. S. Wright was provided and was enjoyed by all.

FUND FOR ATHLETIC FIELD.

Since the last issue of the NEWS, the fund for an athletic field for Gould's has continued to grow in a very satisfactory manner. Mr. W. H. Boardman, whose interest in the school and its students has previously been shown in a very substantial manner, has placed the school under further obligation to him by the contribution of $100. One half to go toward the athletic field, the balance for other needs. Grateful acknowledgment is hereby made for his generosity.

Frank King, a former student, manifests the true spirit of loyalty by sending a contribution of $2. If every ex-student of Gould's would go and do likewise, the acquisition of the proposed field would soon be an assured fact.

The fund now stands:

Individually he is a horse of grand finish and plenty of substance, with a fine disposition, with deep strong shoulders, stout back, very strong joints and stifles, strong bone with good feet and legs. He has a nice easy action and carries his head well up without any check, has a long beautiful tail. He is sound and kind in every way, never gets rally, or never squeals, when harnessed will stand perfectly quiet, at all times gentle and reliable. That he will beget speed and grand road qualities there is no doubt, as he not only inherits but possesses these qualities in marked degree. He has never been handled for speed but has proven a sure foal getter, and all his colts are good size, with good heads and limbs. Even common mares bred to horse of this class cannot fail to produce foals that will find a ready market as carriage horses or roadsters as well as general all-purpose horses.

SAYS IT IS FACT

W. E. Bosserman Confirms Guarantee on Hyomei, Cure for Catarrh.

As some people have raised the question as to whether W. E. Bosserman will refund the money if Hyomei does not do all that is claimed for it in curing catarrh, they want the Bethel News to state positively that this offer is a fact and is made in perfect good faith.

It is the best proof of Hyomei's curative power in all catarrhal troubles. You do not risk a cent in testing its healing merits, for W. E. Bosserman takes all the risk.

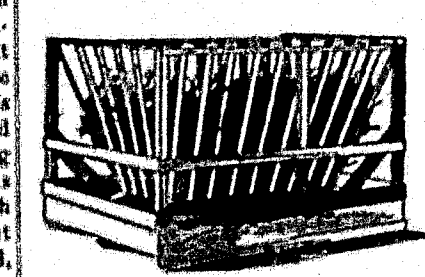

If you have catarrh, try this wonderful medicated air of Hyomei. It does not drug or disarrange the stomach, but is breathed through a neat pocket inhaler, part of every outfit, so that the medication reaches the most remote air cells, destroying all catarrhal germs and curing the disease. Under W. E. Bosserman's guarantee.

CONVENIENT FEED RACK.

One Which Will Prevent Waste of the Coarse Feed.

A substantial feed rack is a good investment on any farm where a considerable amount of stock is kept. By using a rack of this kind much coarse feed can be utilized that would otherwise be wasted and at the same time this coarse feed is made to go as far as possible. We illustrate herewith a rack we have found serviceable, says The Farmer. This rack will cost in the neighborhood of $15. The stock always spends a considerable share of the winter days in the yards, even the dairy cows, and racks of this kind give an opportunity for the stock to eat their roughage while they are getting their exercise. Where the straw and waste hay and fodder was formerly strewn around the yard and tramped in the mud there is now no such waste. The yards can be kept clean and all the roughage used. The racks are also helpful to a certain extent as protection from the weather.

Construction of Feed Rack.

The illustration gives a very fair idea of the construction of the racks. They are 15 feet long, eight feet wide and eight feet high. They are mounted on three 2x8 skids and can be drawn to different parts of the yard. The framework is built around six upright 4x4s braced with 2x4s around the top. The slats in the rack are made of fencing. The rack is floored with inch stuff and sided up with 1x12 boards over which is a 2x8 board to add strength where the cattle lean over the rack. A 2x8 32 inches across the 2x8 and around the rack prevents crowding and adds strength to the rack. A rack of this kind calls for the following bill of material:

Twenty-two pieces of fencing 15 feet; 2 4x4s, 15 feet high; 7 2x4s, 15 feet high; 3 boards 1x12x15; 3 2x8s, 15 feet long; 2 2x8s, 15 feet long; 122 feet flooring; 2 2x8s, 15 feet.

KIND OF COWS TO KEEP.

Raise Them Yourself and Be Sure of Their Milk-Giving Capacity.

It is not sufficient to have a certain number of cows. They should be adapted to the work—dairy cows, beef animals, that can only produce sufficient milk to raise a calf. Such cows are not the most profitable ones to keep. Aim to raise your own cows, then through selection and breeding the producing capacity of your herd can be increased.

If you do not feel equal to the expense, cooperate with your neighbor and purchase a good dairy sire. The influence of a good sire towards improving the quality of stock, especially if your grades are kept, is very marked.

Lay your plans for a sale at least as early a date as possible. The sale has come to be recognized as one of the most important buildings on the dairy farm.

Care should be taken not to feed cows feed capable of imparting oil to the milk or to cause trouble and other strong flavored foods can only be fed immediately after milking, but it is better not to feed such foods to dairy cows. It is not necessary and it is too risky.

Suppose some of you gray-haired men 10 years ago had planted some of your waste land in pine or hemlock? It would certainly be paying your board now.

An English magistrate recently imposed sentence on a school boy who had damaged a tree belonging to the Belling corporation. He ordered the boy provide another tree, and plant it himself. This seems a thoroughly practical way to make the punishment fit the crime.

Mulching is an important point in the production of choice berries. Spread buckwheat straw on old meadow and plow under in fall for potatoes.

Butter Making.

In churning at a low temperature the churn should be stopped when the butter is in granules about the size of rice or grains of wheat. Draw off the buttermilk and wash the butter in good, pure water. Salt the butter at the rate of three-quarters ounce of salt to the pound, or slightly more, as the market may demand. Then work and pack into packages ready for delivery.

In and Out.

"I tell you," followed the street corner wailer, "there are two sides to this question of reforming people by disciplining them."

SKIN ERUPTIONS.

Many persons are much annoyed by prickly heat, hives, boils and other skin eruptions, often attended by painful itching and burning, and sometimes becoming obstinate and unsightly sores. Corrosive people are especially subject to these maddening eruptions, all caused by impure blood. Scrofula, Cancer and all other skin diseases arise from an impure state of the blood.
